

ARROWBEAR MUSIC CAMP
READING SESSION

Final Bulletin
1972 Season
September 1

The success of our first Reading Session was due to many factors. First, the session helped fulfill a need felt by many young musicians to gain experience by reading through the great orchestral literature with different conductors. We owe special thanks to Mr. Jack Palacios who was the director for one fine rehearsal, and we owe an especially deep debt of gratitude to Akira Endo for his work. We were very lucky, for in him we had one of the truly great young conductors of our time, and at the same time, an exceptional teacher and a warm charismatic personality. The students may never in their professional lives work with a better musician, conductor, and teacher. Also, we learned from and enjoyed his seminar and discussions about conducting techniques and conducting experiences with the American Ballet Theatre. We hope Akira will make the Reading Session at Arrowbear a summer habit.

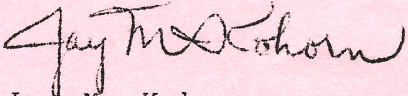

We should also thank Mr. and Mrs. Ohlendorf for their constant work and support for this session since its inception, and for their maintenance of this unique camp.

Without an expert librarian, the session would have been doomed from the start. Thanks to Dennis Dockstader all went exceptionally smoothly. It was also Dennis who first conceived the idea of the Reading Session and began work on it.

Finally, we want to thank all of you for your participation and hard work during this week's activities. In the last analysis it is fine and conscientious student musicians like you who make a success of a musical event such as we had. We hope you learned a great deal about orchestra literature, rehearsal techniques, musical styles, and sight reading and that the experience you have gained will make you finer musicians in all your musical endeavors.

To all those who will be auditioning for orchestras this year, we wish you luck. And we hope to see many of you again next year.

Very sincerely yours,

Jay M. Kohorn
